Homeownership boosts family strength, stability and health.

In a national survey, 74% of Habitat homeowners reported an overall improvement in their family's physical or mental health.

Children of homeowners are less likely to struggle with behavioral or developmental health issues.

Data from Habitat for Humanity Beneficial Impacts of Homeownership Research Summary, 2016.

Habitat homes help all of Missoula.

All Habitat homes are energy-efficient, built with local materials, and constructed with care by community members.

Habitat homes have now contributed over $1 million to Missoula's tax base.

Your support builds homes and hope.
